For more than a century, The John Marshall Law School has remained steadfast in its tradition of working to be a law school of diversity, innovation, and access through opportunities for all regardless of race, religion, ethnic origin, or gender. All proceeds from this event create scholarships for JMLS students.
Passion has propelled Lieutenant Governor Evelyn Sanguinetti ’98 from humble beginnings in Hialeah, Fla. to becoming Illinois’ first Latina Lieutenant Governor. Every day, she fights for Illinois residents. She is a working mother of three, an attorney, an adjunct professor of law and a former Wheaton City Councilwoman.
